14.—JUDGE ADVOCATE GENERAL, AND DEPUTY JUDGE ADVOCATE GENERAL.

Francis Paterson, Esq. - - late Judge Advocate General for Ireland, being then considerably above 60 years of age, and having served above 30 years in the office, retired on the 24th of April 1820, on a superannuation allowance of 365*l.* per annum, being two-thirds of his salary, not including his allowance. This retirement was granted to Mr. Paterson, under the provisions of the 50th of the King, c. 117, and is paid at the Auditor General's Office, Treasury Chambers, Dublin. Mr. Paterson has no other pension or allowance whatsoever; and on Mr. Paterson's retirement, the office of Judge Advocate General for Ireland ceased, and the Judge Advocate General of England obtained jurisdiction over Ireland.

Robert Grove Leslie, Esq. - - who had been Deputy Judge Advocate General for Ireland under Mr. Paterson, from the year 1801, was, on the retirement of Mr. Paterson in 1820, appointed to be Deputy Judge Advocate General for Ireland, under the new arrangement, with the same salary and appointments as had been enjoyed by Mr. Paterson; and in the year 1821, Mr. Leslie having become almost blind, so as to be unable to read or write, was obliged to resign his office, and seek a retired allowance under the same Act, 50th of the King, c. 117.

He, Mr. Leslie, accordingly retired on the 24th of November 1821, on a superannuation allowance of 270*l.* per annum, payable at the Treasury Chambers, Dublin, and has no other pension or allowance whatsoever.
